NEW CASTLE, February 25.—Four bank burglars, Lawton Hunt, Burt, Carter and Hope, under sentence for ten years, with Frazier, under a life sentence for murder, were rescued by a gang of burglars. They scaled the prison walls by ladders brought with them.

After securing the Warden they opened the prisoners' cells by means of jack-screws, forcing open the windows. There were twelve or thirteen men engaged in the rescue, who are supposed to have come from Philadelphia in a tug and escaped in the same way.

About one o'clock this morning, Israel Ridding, the night warden of the jail, hearing a slight noise in the yard and opened the door, when he was immediately seized by a gang of a dozen men. They gagged and hand-cuffed him, tied his feet and put him in a coal hold. One of them threatened his life with a drawn knife, but another member of the gang, known as Big Frank, interfered, they got over the wall by two short ladders tied together, which they brought with them, and carried off with them E. Frazier, who was under a life sentence for the murder of Allison. It is supposed that the party reached here in a tug boat, which had been seen off New Castle last night and disappeared this morning. Over 2,500,000 votes were cast in the late parliamentary elections in Great Britain. The total number of votes in the United Kingdom is about 3,000,000. Fifty years ago there were only 200,000 voters.

Chang was worth $20,000, and Eng but $10,000. We don't see how this could be, except on the supposition that Chang was in the habit of picking Eng's pockets, and everybody knows that he had ample opportunity to do it.

Our lighthouse system is more extensive than any in the world, the lights and beacons extending more than 10,000 miles along coast and shore. We have 521 lighthouses, 3 powerful signals operated by steam or hot air, 354 day or unlighted beacons, and 2,3 buoys.

During the continuance of the Parliament just dissolved, in England, there were 163 deaths among the members—55 in the House of Commons, and 108 in the House of Lords. Among the latter the oldest was the bishop of Exeter, who was 97; and the youngest, Earl St. Maur, aged 33.

A granddaughter of General Harrison, once President of the United States, is teaching school at Mount Auburn, and the fact is commented on as something extraordinary. Why the granddaughter of a President should or should not teach school is a question that should be permitted to concern only the lady herself.

A Chicago reporter went to report a funeral in church the other day, and, being like all other Chicago reporters, in a state of heathen darkness about Christmas, he wrote out a long description of the evergreen decorations, under the impression that they had been put up for the funeral.

A remarkable rose-bush adorns the cottage of S. A. Randall, of Santa Rosa, California. It was planted in 1858, and is of the Lamarque variety, the most beautiful of the white roses. Imagine an immense bouquet of white roses, twenty-five feet high, twenty-two feet across, beautifully rounded, with four thousand full-blown roses and twenty thousand buds!

Sad is the story of Henry E. Bowers, a New Haven youth, who fell in love with an Indianapolis belle at school in New Haven. She went home some time ago, and a correspondence and then an engagement followed; but a few days ago he and a party of friends went to Indianapolis in a palace car chartered for the purpose, with lots of presents for the wedding, but when he got there the girl refused to have him.

The Boston Post Washington correspondence says, the next development of corruption promised, is to concern particularly some whisky rings in St. Louis, and Pekin, Illinois. The developments so far, are to the effect that at the large number of distilleries in those cities whisky is manufactured in great quantities, and shipped to New York with the understanding that it is to be exported at New York. The whisky is drawn out, the barrels are filled with water and the water is sent to Europe, and the whisky is either sold or reshipped to various points in the country.

☞ The New York Commercial Advertiser is responsible for the following pleasant bit of Washington gossip; "Pinchbeck swears loudly and long, that if he must go up in Morton's balloon he will have distinguished company. Let the circus begin, he says; but of one thing I am certain, and that is that the result of a fair investigation will be to make me a minor figure in the grand cavalcade of damned scoundrels who will have to march."

Rockafellow.

Rocky has emerged from his temporary obscurity into the full blaze of prosperity and editorial glory. We gratefully acknowledge this morning the receipt of the first number of the Washington Tribune, an evening paper that floats at its masthead the resonant name of "A. D. Rockafellow, Editor and Business Manager." Despite the high journalistic position that his idomitable genius has suddenly won for him, he still keeps an eye on the humble affairs of the Gate City, as the following item plainly evinces:

The nomination of Governor Sam. Bard, the chronic candidate for the Postmastership at Atlanta, Georgia, has hung fire, and we hope it will so continue. The people of Atlanta prefer to see a citizen of Atlanta in that office. The Governor is a clever fellow, but he must be content to stay where he belongs—in Idaho, to which place the President had better send him.

Is a Pullman Car an Inn!

A case has just been decided in the Superior Court of Chicago that involves the question of liability on the part of that huge concern, the Pullman Palace Car Company. There used to be other sleeping-car companies in the land, but Pullman has bought or bullied them all out of existence. And so we say that the responsibility of the Pullman Company is alone involved in the Chicago case. The plaintiff sued to recover $1,150 stolen from him on a sleeping car between Chicago and St. Louis, claiming that the company were liable as inn-keepers. Chief Justice Gary decided that they were not inn-keepers, but that they were liable as common-carriers, and directed the jury to find for the sum lost by the plaintiff, unless that sum exceeded the amount necessary for his traveling expenses in the course of the journey he had undertaken when he left home, with six per cent. interest. The jury gave a verdict for $277—a result eminently unsatisfactory to both parties, and both have, therefore, appealed to the Supreme Court.

Lotta and the Newsboys.

Just after Mardi Gras, this charming actress played for the benefit of the New Orleans newsboys; and the papers of the next morning chronicled a characteristic bit of spontaneity on her part, that occurred at the close of the second act. The curtain was rung up, and amid the wildest cheering by the assembled gamins, a representative newsboy stepped on the stage, and in a handsome speech presented Lotta with a gold medal, appropriately engraved, and a magnificent bouquet of flowers. During the delivery of the address, says a New Orleans paper, she was so deeply affected that, unable to control her emotions, they found vent in tears, and in the fullness of her heart she actually kissed the young orator then and there, to his great confusion and the uproarious delight of the spectators, of whom she begged indulgence for her inability to respond—that language was powerless to express her feelings. The touching sentiment of the episode found an earnest recognition among the crowded auditorium.

has donated three-fourths of its stock in the Atlantic and Gulf Road to the company. We hope to see it speedily finished to Pollard.

The Legislature should do something in the matter of the Macon and Brunswick Road. Under the circumstances it looks needless to push the bill that passed the House. But something ought to be done in the matter.

The Ashantee War.

For several days the telegraph has been telling of the close of the Ashantee war by the British forces conquering the Ashantees. The capture of the Ashantee capital and the signing of a treaty of peace were announced. It seems the Ashantees were playing possum. They have, according to our morning telegraph, treacherously violated the peace contract, renewed the war and after a fierce battle in which the English lost heavily, the English army is in danger.

These savages seem to be hard chaps to whip.

Gun Factory Wanted.

DALTON, GA., February 23, 1874.

Proprietors Constitution;

GENTLEMEN: Will you please advertise (one insertion) for the benefit of one of your daily subscribers, the name of the most substantial (in your next issue) gun and pistol manufactory, rifling, etc., of your city? I have looked through the daily and weekly for such an advertisement, but have found none. If you charge for the above, mention it in the next issue, and I will send you the money.

Yours respectfully,
J. H. S.

Our popular merchant Colonel Mark W. Johnson, and others, keeps a stock of guns etc.; if there is a factory here, they can address our correspondent direct.

A Bad Habit.

A few papers in the State, have fallen into the very bad habit of abusing the Legislature, and making light of the character and amount of work done by it. We are glad to see the papers rebuking it. Says the Covington Enterprise:

The subjoined paragraph from the Savannah News' column on "Georgia Affairs," presents a sample of a style of criticism too prevalent among the newspapers of our State. It is true there is too much local legislation; it is also true that almost all of it is immediately demanded by the people who send members to that body. If any of these apparently trivial bills were withheld, the member who should dare deny so slight a favor to his constituents need never hope to obtain their votes again. The proper remedy for the evil is not to be found in abuse of the members of the Legislature, but in the transfer of power to control such local matters to the several County Courts.

The Bill Transferring Exclusive Jurisdiction of Misdemeanors to the Atlanta City Court from the Fulton Superior Court.

This measure has passed both branches of the Legislature, and we desire to enter upon the record our warm protest against it. We believe that in a short time the people will be clamoring for a repeal of the pernicious law. When we consider the undeniable fact that, for the last four years, under the law giving this sort of jurisdiction to the Superior Court, there has been an unexampled repression of misdemeanors, and that this same Superior Court, under its present efficient and resolute Judge, has become a terror to the gamblers and Sunday tippling houses and social evil dens and other petty offenders, whose violations of law constitute the great bulk of our city disorder, and whose control insures the quiet of our community.

One thing is very certain, and that is that no class of the people will derive more satisfaction from this unneeded change of law than the perpetrators of misdemeanors. Their satisfaction will be open and undisguised. Under the stern administration of Judge Hopkins this class of offenders has diminished in number and cowered in their audacity. To thus take away the jurisdiction of the tribunal they most fear, is a real encouragement to such offenders.

We reiterate our protest, and place it upon the record in behalf of our community and in the cause of good order.

Ashantee.

Coomassie, the capital of Ashantee, has surrendered to General Sir Garnet Wolseley commanding Her Majesty's forces, the King and his family are prisoners, and his powerful kingdom is at the mercy of the British Lion. The conquered territory lies in the same latitude with Abyssinia, the latter being on the east side, and the former on the west or gold coast, and both almost under the equator. Ashantee is in Upper Guinea, not far from Liberia. The capital of the warlike and populous State is near Cape Coast Castle, the capital of the British settlement on the gold coast; and battles have before occurred between the two powers, in one of which the English were soundly thrashed, captured, and afterwards eaten by the cannibalish conquerors.

The government is a complete despotism, the King exercising a complete control over the lives and property of all classes. He is the legal heir to all the property of his subjects, but usually abstains from taking anything but the unwrought gold found among the effects of the deceased. Slavery prevails on a large scale, many of the Caboceers, as the aristocratic gentlemen of color are called, owning one thousand other negroes each. Slaves have rapidly accumulated since the suppression of the slave trade. But the masters are generally afraid to abuse their power believing that if they do, the slaves will bewitch them. Polygamy is another favorite institution, a man's importance being rated according to the number of his wives. The King is limited to three thousand three hundred and thirty-three wives, and is said to have a complement.

The population is estimated at 3,000,000, and Coomassie is a city of probably 75,000 people. The soil is fertile, producing sugarcane, bananas and many kinds of tropical fruits. Much of it, however, is covered with a dense undergrowth and immense cottonwood trees. The gold mines are very rich, and the principal exports are gold dust, ivory and the jura nut. Many of the richest mines, however, are left untouched, being sacred to their fetiches.

Like many of the negro nations in Western Africa, the inhabitants of Ashantee seem to delight in the shedding of blood, and human sacrifices are part of their religious observances. At two of their festivals human blood constantly flows. It really matters little whether the British Lion is in the right or not: he owes it to civilization and humanity to soundly thrash and thoroughly subjugate the outlandish savages. The sword is the best pioneer missionary in Ashantee, and if Wolseley and his army have carved out a reasonably safe road for religion and civilization, they well deserve all the honors that their nation will be likely to bestow on them.

The Atlanta Police and the Last Homicide.

We published yesterday some very severe strictures from different Georgia journals upon the conduct of the Atlanta police in connection with the killing of Bedell. Says the Augusta Chronicle:

We mention these little matters not because of their relevance or importance, but simply to show the obliging spirit of the Atlanta police and the care which they take to remove any obstacles in the way of a meeting between two sanguinarily disposed gentlemen.

are compelled to admit that while this charge is not technically correct, it is one that proceeds upon a very natural inference from the published accounts.

The question then is as to the correctness of the accounts. We have laid the entire testimony before our readers, and we are satisfied that they will sustain us in the assertion that the facts elicited under oath put the matter in a more unenviable light than the newspaper accounts. It clearly appears that the police were fully informed of the whole affair, but it does not appear that proper efforts were made to stop further difficulty. This was the more culpable as the desperate character of the parties was well known.

But the aspect of the matter is still more open to criticism, when we consider the individual conduct of the policemen engaged in the affair. Let us take the case of Brazleton. The special duty of a police officer is to prevent difficulties and bloodshed, to protect the lives of citizens and to preserve order. Let us see how this duty was performed. The policeman himself testifies on oath that he was greatly excited and ran; also, that the "understanding was that witness (Brazleton) was to carry the pistol in his pocket so he (Bedell) could get it, if he wanted it."

One witness states that the policeman was "running over a barrel;" and another more emphatically, "that he never saw a man run so in his life, that running was no name for it." This policeman, too, had a pistol in his pocket. We shall not stop now to criticise the conduct of other policemen.

We have made a simple recital of facts and we to-day have no special accusations to set forth. But in the light of these facts THE CONSTITUTION demands an instant investigation by the authorities of the city. The character of the entire police force, as well as of the officers implicated; the fair name of the city; the life of the citizen and the peace and good order of society demand an investigation. If it is to be an accepted fact that men are not only unprotected in walking the streets of Atlanta, but are also even exposed, under the immediate guardianship of our policemen, let us know it. But there is a matter lying back of all this in connection with our police that we shall take up in another issue, and to which we have purposely omitted allusion.

The facts upon the surface call loudly for the immediate arraignment of the officers concerned and a thorough scrutiny into their conduct. The people demand it. They must have it.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Rockafellow Turns Up in Washington as an Editor—A Dancing Bureau—Mr. Stephens—Mrs. Westmoreland.

From the Constitution's Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, February 22, 1874.

Yesterday afternoon a small, two cent, evening newspaper, named the Washington Tribune, made its appearance on the streets. It bore date of the previous day, and its telegraphic news (?) was three days old. At the head of the editorial columns was emblazoned "A. D. Rockafellow, Editor and Business Manager." The announcement was made below that this was a "prospectus" number, and that the regular daily issue would commence on Thursday next. One or two weak editorials, and the memorials to Congress with reference to the Board of Public Works, with Governor Sheperd's reply thereto, and a few miscellaneous paragraphs comprised the contents of this rather compromising journalistic creature. I clip from the Tribune the following items with regard to Georgians at the Capitol:

Ex-Governor Benjamin Conley, of Georgia, one of the leading Republicans of that State, is stopping at the National Hotel.

Colonel Thomas P. Robb, President of the Corpus Christi and Rio Grande Railroad, is at the Ebbit House.

Capt. C. H. Prince, Postmaster at Augusta, Ga, is at the Continental Hotel.

A delegation of prominent citizens of Savannah, Ga, called on the President yesterday to urge the destruction of what is known in that city as "Atkins-Bryant customhouse ring," by the removal of Mr. Atkins, the present collector.

AN APPEAL TO GENERAL YOUNG.

A humorous writer in one of the Sunday papers says, in an article on the reduction of the army:

"Now there is nothing that disciplines the heels like the "german." So let us have the Society Bureau and have done with this nonsense about reducing the army. Under the present loose and badly regulated system it has cost the government in round figures half a million dollars to have the "german" properly danced and the Belles properly favored by our heroes in Washington this winter. If anybody thinks the government can have its Dignity properly upheld in this way for nothing he is a sublime ass. He ought to be made Secretary of the Navy immediately. Under the present system there is no responsibility. But if we had a bureau the thing would be immediately reduced to a system and could be investigated once in a while, and then we should feel satisfied that it was one of our glorious Republican institutions.

This thing should instantly receive the attention of Congress. There is my Confederate friend, Pierce Young of Georgia, who is on the Military Committee. Let him stretch his hand across the bloody chasm to introduce a bill creating a Society Bureau, and all the Belles and the brass-mounted heroes will rise up and call him blessed. I know my friend can't dance the "german" himself, but his adorable can, and he could find his reward in seeing her led through its mazes in due official form by a member of the bureau which he has organized."

MIGHTY MEAN.

The Richmond Enquirer, which assumes to represent all that is chivalric and hightoned in Southern journalism, has a very mean reference to Hon. Alex. H. Stephens in a recent issue. It refers to his having dined at the White House, and says the President was astonished to find Mr. Stephens' appetite was in inverse ratio to his delicate appearance, and adds that Mr. Stephens has been sick ever since. This is simply outrageous. Mr. Stephens eats very sparingly, as is well known, and to joke over his recent illness, from which he is now happily recovering, is simply cruel.

MRS. WESTMORELAND

has read twice at private entertainments during the past week, and the Washington papers continue to shower compliments upon her. She is declared to be as bright as she is beautiful.

Let us have peace!

"An Eye Witness" communicates this remarkable statement to the Shelby Courant of Kentucky: "In your last issue appeared a statement to the effect that a Marion county man had caught eleven coons in one tree. This was doing pretty well for Marion, but we people down here in Shelby look upon that as an exceedingly small catch, for on last Saturday about a dozen of us, accompanied by as many dogs, went marching down the Louisville turnpike in the direction of Mr. Harry Ballow's, where we arrived in good order; and after picketing the dogs at various points around about, the men formed a circle around a huge poplar about four feet in diameter, hollow from top to bottom, and hence easy to cut down. In a short time it was felled, and, falling to the ground, bursted all in pieces, where, lo and behold! out jumped from one end twelve coons, a half-dozen woodpeckers, and a sapsucker, while from the other end fifty flying-squirrels leaped forth. On the following morning another coon was found dead in the debris of the tree, making in all thirteen coons, besides the other varmints. But this is not equal to Mr. Harris's catch up near Bagdad, in this county, for he got twenty-seven coons on his own place out of two trees."

Letter from Hon. C. A. Nutting.

ATLANTA, February 23, 1874.

Editors Telegraph and Messenger: In your issue of the 25th ult., there appeared a letter from an Atlanta correspondent over the signature of "Granger," in which an invidious attack was made upon myself that seems to demand some notice at my hands.

What motive could have prompted the attack I am at a loss to understand. It is the universal opinion of fair-minded men, however, that when a person hides himself behind a false name, and shoots in the dark, he is moved to do so by feelings which he would not be willing to avow.

I am glad to say that it is the first time in the history of Georgia, so far as my information extends, that a member of the Legislature has sought, by an anonymous assault, to destroy the usefulness and impair the standing of another member from the same county and of the same political faith as himself.

"Granger" states that it is understood that I was advocating the dismemberment and sale of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad. This is a mistake. Much has been said as to the best course to pursue with regard to this road, and many suggestions have been made, both in and out of the Legislature. Among others, I have talked freely about the matter, and on one or more occasions I have asked what would be the effect of selling the road in sections. This was a mere suggestion, however, and designed to elicit the opinions of others. Other members made suggestions, and ventured opinions from time to time without once supposing, I imagine, that they were to be classed as enemies of the road or set down as hostile to its extension.

It is by informal suggestions and enquiries, and by questions and cross-questions in their rooms and on the streets that members elicit the views of each other, and arrive at final conclusions. I certainly did not suppose that a simple enquiry on my part would be construed into a deliberate expression of hostility to the road.

And now as to the bond bill, "Granger" seems to be afraid that the people of Georgia will give me too much credit for the part I performed in preparing and carrying through the measure that has so signally relieved our State from financial embarrassment. But what is the history of the bill?

Early in the session of 1873, Judge McCay called at my room and read a letter from his brother, Professor C. F. McCay, of Baltimore, formerly a resident of this State, in which he expressed the deep interest he felt in the welfare of our people, and stated that he had prepared and sent out a bill which he desired should be shown to such parties as were likely to influence our financial policy. I asked Judge McCay to let me see the bill. He replied "that he had handed it"—to whom, Messrs. Editors, do you suppose? Why, to "Granger" himself.

More than one application was made to him for it, and several days elapsed before I obtained the bill. When he finally placed it in my hands he expressed no opinion as to its merits, though I am informed that, after the bill had been prepared and passed by the House, he stated to a member of the Finance Committee that he should support it when it came up in the Senate, but that he had no confidence in its favorable results. He saw no merit in the measure then, but now that it has proved an eminent success, he is unwilling that his own colleague and fellow-townsman should share, in however small a degree, the credit of the performance.

The moment the bill was examined by me I was satisfied that it possessed some merit, and I am frank to say that it constituted a portion of the groundwork of the one that finally passed.

It is also proper to state that I conferred freely with a number of leading men and received valuable suggestions from many of them which were worked into the bill. Among those to whom I was most indebted were Gov. Smith, Treasurer Jones, Henry D. McDaniel and other members of the Finance Committee, John P. King, Wm. Hope Hull, Wm. B. Johnston, Gen. Wm. S. Holt, and many others. In other words, the bill, as I laid it before the Finance Committee, embodied many of the provisions contained in Prof. McCay's draft, and such additions of my own, and suggestions of others, as met my approval. The materials thus furnished by others and contributed by myself were carefully considered and, at last fashioned into the shape and form in which it reached the House. Such, to the best of my recollection, is the history of this bill, and such, in substance, I presume, is the history of nearly all other successful financial measures I claim no credit for the part I took. If others see proper to commend the measure it is their business, not mine.

The State was in great financial straits, and the best and wisest men were in doubt as to the best course to pursue. If in trying to blaze out the way I rendered the State any service, it was simply my duty to do what I could to extricate her from the quagmire in which others had placed her.

And now one word to my constituents of Bibb county: For several years I have walked in and out before them; they know what manner of man I am at home, but as to my stewardship here, they must depend upon others and the record for information. My acts and doings as a member of the Legislature are of record, and by them I am willing to be judged. I have tried to serve my country and State faithfully and to avoid giving or receiving offense. If I have fallen short of my duty, as I doubtless have on many occasions, it was an "error of the head and not the heart." I have postponed making any reply to my assailant untilnear the end of the session in order that our usefulness here might not be impaired to the injury of our constituents. If I speak now it is only because I feel it to be a duty to myself and friends to repel what others, as well as myself, consider a gratuitous assault.

DECISIONS
SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA.

Delivered in Atlanta, Tuesday, Feb. 24, 1874.

REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION, BY HENRY JACKSON, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.]

Phillip Lipkin vs. Thomas Grace. Relief Act of 1868, from Pulaski.

McCAY, J.

When a judgment was obtained in 1866 on a promissory note made in 1860, and under the Relief Act of 1868, the defendant filed an affidavit to reduce the debt, on the ground that in 1863 he had tendered to the plaintiff the whole amount due, which he refused, and that the defendant had thereby lost the sum tendered:

[illegible] and it was not error in the Court to order the execution to proceed.

Judgment affirmed, with damages.
L. C. Ryals, for plaintiff in error.
Warren & Grice, by brief, for defendant.

Robert S. Rachels vs. The State. Riot, from Mitchell.

McCAY, J.

1. Under our Code, section 4514, Code of 1873—"if any two or more persons, either with or without common cause of quarrel, do an unlawful act of violence, it is a riot, and a violent assault or attempt to commit a violent injury upon the person of another, is an illegal act of violence within the meaning of the law.

2. Under our Code joint offenders may be separately tried, and the acquittal of one of two charged with an offense, which it takes two to commit, does not operate as an acquittal of the defendant not tried.

3. Where the verdict of the jury is such as is required by the evidence, this Court will not reverse the judgment of the Court below refusing a new trial, for an error in the charge of the Court to the jury, which, under the facts proven, could have done the accused no harm.

Judgment affirmed.
C. O. Davis; H. Morgan, for plaintiff in error.
B. B. Bower, Solicitor General, for the State.

Simonton, Jones & Hatcher vs. The Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Company. Demurrer, from Fulton.

McCAY, J.

1. By the provisions of section 2,794 of our Code, (Code 73,) contracts of insurance must be in writing, and a subsequent agreement, to alter such a contract, must also be in writing.

2. Where the law requires a contract to be in writing, equity will grant relief, if the party complaining has so acted on the parol contract as that it would be a fraud upon him to permit the other to deny the contract. But in such cases the act must be in pursuance of the contract, on the faith of it and induced by it.

3. When one had a policy of insurance on a stock of goods in a certain house and undertook to remove the goods to another house, and whilst actually engaged in such removal was asked (as is alleged) by the agent of the company, if he desired his policy transferred. The insured replied, by all means, if necessary, and the agent consented to the removal and promised to make the necessary entry on the books. The insured, thereupon, continued the removal, took out no new insurance and his goods were subsequently lost by fire:

HELD, That this was not such action on the alleged parol agreement as estopped the insurance company from insisting that the contract was not in writing.

Judgment affirmed.
M. A. Bell, for plaintiffs in error.
Jackson & Clarke, for defendant.

Riley Wilson vs. The State. Carrying concealed weapons, from Mitchell.

TRIPPE, J.

The evidence in this case was sufficient to sustain the verdict, and the Court did not err in overruling the motion for a new trial.

Judgment affirmed.
T. R. Lyon, J. H. Spence, for plaintiff in error.
B. P. Bower, Solicitor General, for the State.

M. H. VanDyke vs. B. A. Martin, et al. Injunction, from Lumpkin.

TRIPPE, J.

There was no error in the refusal to grant the injunction in this case.

Judgment affirmed.
Wier Boyd, by brief, for plaintiff in error.
W. P. Price for defendant.

William Tulford vs. The State. Assault with intent to murder, from Mitchell.

TRIPPE, J.

An indictment against A for the offense of assault with intent to murder one J. A. Conway, charged the prisoner as principal in the second degree, in being present, aiding and abetting A "by pushing, striking, assaulting and threatening the said J. A. Conway:"

HELD, That such words thus descriptive of the acts of A which constitute the offense of which he is accused, cannot on motion of prosecuting counsel, without the consent of the prisoner, be stricken from the indictment as surplusage.

Judgment reversed.
T. R. Lyon, C. O. Davis, for plaintiff in error.
B. B. Bower, Solicitor General, for the State.

John B. Dunnahoo vs. N. W. Carithers et al. Injunction, from Jackson.

TRIPPE, J.

The bill filed in the Court below presents about the following statement of facts: John Griffith died testate in 1871, leaving four children—William Griffith, Mary Scott, Susan Holland, wife of J. H. Holland; and the wife of plaintiff in error. Plaintiff and his wife, who were to receive nothing under the will, intended to caveat the probate thereof. By the will certain land was given in trust for the children of Mrs. Dunnahoo, and all the balance of the estate was left to the other three children. In January, 1872, before any caveat was filed, plaintiff in error entered into an agreement with two of the children who were legatees, and with Holland, the husband of the third, and who was one of the executors, as follows: "that the will should be set up and executed, that the land received by John B. Dunnahoo from testator, and all the lands willed by deceased to the children of Mrs. Dunnahoo, and all the demands held by deceased against said John B. Dunnahoo at the time of his death to be accounted for as the rest of the heirs, All the above named lands to be valued by disinterested persons chosen by said parties. That when the estate of said deceased shall be ready for distribution a calculation shall be made upon the same, and paid out to each of the children of said deceased, so that each shall receive the same amount of said estate except Mary Scott, who shall have the land willed to her over and above the rest, as is set forth in said will." The bill alleges that this agreement was made in order to settle and forever put at rest all controversy in reference to said estate, and to avoid family broils and litigation, and that all parties acted under it and accepted it as the law to the executors, so far as it conflicts with the testator's will. The legatees mentioned in the will as well as plaintiff were indebted to testator, and it was the intention of the parties to the agreement, that debts so due by them were to be taken as advancements, and that the same were not to be paid in, and then to be distributed, but to be counted as so much against their respective shares. The testator before his death had instituted suit on a note he held against plaintiff, which was pending when the agreement was executed. Plaintiff has a substantial defense against a large portion of this claim, but relying on the agreement and, as he alleges, "he believed and did know that it was to be determined and settled under the agreement," he gave no further attention to the suit against him. The executors, without his knowledge, at the next term of the Court in which said action was pending, and which was in a few weeks after the execution of the agreement, obtained judgment on the debt and had levied the execution issued thereon on his property. The other parties have never been required to pay the debts they owed the estate. A sale has been made by the executors, all the parties in interest purchasing some of the property. Plaintiff bought about eleven hundred dollars worth of which he paid six hundred dollars, and no payment was required of the other legatees. The executors have instituted suit against him for the balance of his purchase, which is now pending.

There are no debts against the estate which is ready for distribution, and the share coming to plaintiff or his wife is greater than what he owes the estate, and he has often proposed a settlement as provided in the agreement.

The bill prays for an injunction against the levy and sale under it, and against the suit pending against plaintiff for the balance due on his purchase at the executor's sale, and that a settlement and accounting be had as provided for by the agreement and for general relief, etc. The Chancellor refused to grant any injunction.

It is apparent that the bill was prepared without reference to the act of 1866 or the Constitution of 1868, which secures to a married woman as her separate estate, all property given to, inherited or acquired by her. Had Mrs. Dunnahoo's right or interest in the estate accrued directly under the will or solely by virtue of her being an heir at law, her husband could not assert her rights in his own name or as a set-off against what he may owe the estate, or set up any equity in her to postpone or otherwise affect the collection of what he might owe the estate. Even [illegible] of sale to prevent the collection of the balance of his purchase at the sale of the executors. The agreement provides that when the estate is ready for distribution, it shall be paid out "to each of the children of the deceased." This distinctly recognizes one share as belonging to Mrs. Dunnahoo, and her husband cannot by a purchase at the sale secure to himself what belongs to his wife. To effect the set-off, so far as it refers to either of their debts, it would be necessary that the wife should be a party, and that proper allegations, if the facts exist to authorize them, should be made. For the same reason Mrs. Holland, another daughter, should be a party, with such charges as would show that she was bound by the agreement. She did not sign the agreement. It was the act of her husband. It is true he was executor, but her interest under the will was her separate property. The right could not be affected or lessened by the act of her husband without her consent. The letting in of Mrs. Dunnahoo, to a share of the estate, did diminish Mrs. Holland's portion. To bind her by this, or to enforce the execution of the agreement against the executors, she must be a party and must be shown to be bound by that agreement.

The bill, not having all this, it was not error to refuse the injunction so far as it was prayed to restrain the suit now pending against plaintiff.

We do not think the rights of the children of Mrs. Dunnahoo, under the will, affect the question or present any difficulty. They are secured by the will, and are not taken away or diminished by the agreement. Certain land is bequeathed to them, and the parties only contracted that the appraised value of it should be diverted from the share that would go to their mother, under the agreement. They have no interest in this contest.

But we think the injunction should have been granted restraining the enforcement of the judgment obtained by the executors against the plaintiff. He makes the sworn statement what his defence was, and that it was true, that the debt was for one hundred dollars more than it should have been, and that he was entitled to a credit for a payment of two hundred dollars, and relying on the agreement and the understanding of the parties that a settlement of all the debts was to be made, when a distribution was had, he was induced not to prosecute his defence. If this be true, and it is sworn to and not contradicted, he should not lose his right to be heard, even if the agreement can be repudiated or cannot be legally enforced. If he was misled by it so as to omit to defend the suit, that right should now be granted him. Two of the three executors signed the agreement. Its terms when taken in connection with the charges in the bill, are sufficient to entitle him to a hearing before a jury. We do not say that in the present state of the bill he can assert any claim to have this debt paid out of any part of the estate. As before stated, it would be necessary for Mrs. Holland to be party, as also Mrs. Dunnahoo, with such further averments as might be necessary.

It is true a wife cannot dispose of her property to discharge her husband's debts. But in this case Mrs. Dunnahoo took nothing by the will. She has no property in the estate outside of the agreement. She and her husband proposed to contest the will. All her right, and all chance for any share would thus have been in litigation. We do not think that in such a case a wife should be denied the privilege to compromise a litigated or doubtful claim, even on the terms that she will receive a debt on her husband as part of the share that the other parties may yield to her. Such a settlement is not in conflict with the law, and might be eminently prudent and proper in such cases, especially where family disputes are thereby prevented and settled.

We were urged in the argument to give directions as to what rights the plaintiff might have under proper amendments, and what judgment the Chancellor should render in the case thus made. But we cannot go further than the suggestions which have been made, and which necessarily spring out of the reasons given for the decision we render. It is for the parties to take such steps as their interests may require and the law will permit.

In our opinion the injunction should be granted, so far as to restrain the collection of the judgment obtained by the executors against plaintiff in error, until it can be determined on a final hearing whether he is entitled to be heard on his defense against the note on which the judgment was rendered.

Judgment reversed.
J. B. Estes, W. L. Marler, for plaintiff in error.
Will J. Pike, M. M. Pitman, for defendants.

The Siamese Twins Autopsy,

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY—THE TWO BODIES HAD ONLY ONE LIVER.

PHILADELPHIA, February 25.—The second edition of the Medical Times states that the autopsy of the Siamese Twins was continued on Friday last, resulting in some interesting disclosures. It says:

On Friday the commission continued the autopsy on the Siamese twins and made some important discoveries. They found that two livers, which were supposed to be joined only by blood vessels, were really but one body, the parenchimatos tissue being continuous between them, so that when they were removed from the bodies and placed on the table they formed one mass. The so-called tract of portal continuity is, therefore, liver tissue.

It will be remembered that Chang was said to be possessed of one more pouch than Eng. When the liver was removed, however, an upper hepatic pouch was found also proceeding from Eng, so that band contained four pouches of peritoneum besides the liver tissue. These disclosures show that an attempt during life to separate the twins would, in all probability have proved fatal.

WEATHER.

CLOUDY AND CLEARING WEATHER IN GEORGIA.

PROBABILITIES.

For the middle States and the lower lakes winds backing to northwest with cloudy weather and occasional snow.

For the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic States rising barometer, northwest winds cloudy and clearing weather.

For the Gulf States, north winds with rising barometer, partly cloudy and clear weather

For the Ohio Valley, diminishing northeast winds and rising barometer, followed by falling barometer and north winds.

For the upper lakes and Northwest, falling barometer, south winds, high temperature and cloudy or partly cloudy weather.

The lower Ohio and Mississippi Rivers continue slowly rising.

TEMPERANCE.

ALBANY, February 25.—At a meeting of the state Temperance Committee to-day, resolutions were adopted asking the Legislature to pass a local prohibition bill, and also calling on the friends of temperance to use every effort to advance the cause, and bid the Western women God speed in their crusade.

WASHINGTON.

THE RESTORATION OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE PROBABLE—THE "CENTENNIAL"—SCHURZ AND MORTON HAVE AN ANGRY SPAT.

WASHINGTON, February 25.—In the House there was a debate on the bill reviving the franking privilege, continued all day, and finally, the previous question was seconded and the main question ordered by 126 to 117. The bill will be voted on to-morrow.

The President to-day, in communicating to Congress the report of the Centennial commission, says a failure on this enterprise would be deplorable. Success can be assured by arousing public opinion to the importance of the occasion. To secure this end, in his judgment, Congressional legislation is necessary to make the exposition both national and international.

Confirmations—Boyle, Attorney Eastern District of Texas.

[illegible] and Morton taking part. There was a sharp discussion between Morton and Schurz growing out of the debate of yesterday, in which Morton said Schurz did not understand the country in which he lived. In reply to Morton to-day Schurz said Morton made misstatements atrocious and willful. Morton retorted by characterizing the argument of Schurz as disingenuous.

Carpenter called both to order and apologies followed. No votes.

ENGLAND.

IMPORTANT NEWS—THE ASHANTEE WAR NOT OVER—TREACHERY OF THE ASHANTEES.

LONDON, February 25.—A report reached here that a great battle has been fought at Coomasie, between the Ashantees and a force under General Sir Garnet Walseley. The engagement is said to have lasted the whole day, and to have closed with no decided result. The British loss nearly three hundred, including many officers. The Highlanders alone are reported to have had one hundred and fifty men killed and wounded. General Sir Garnet Walseley was said to have been in need of reinforcements, which were five miles off.

The War Office is without official advices of the reported battle between the English and the Ashantees, but unofficial reports say the battle was fought at Acroomboo on the 31st of January and not at Coomassie. Among the killed were Major Baird and Captain Buckle. The Globe says if the news be true the only course left is to effect a safe retreat to the coast.

A special to the Standard says the Ashantees had entirely surrounded the British army, but were eventually driven off with great loss. The principal war chief was killed. The King has taken command in person, and it is expected will renew the attack.

CHARLESTON, February 25.—The venerable Lutheran pastor, John Bachman, distinguished as a naturalist, and a life long friend and co-laborer of Agassiz and Audubon, is dead—aged 85.

In consequence of the heavy condition of the track, owing to a storm, the opening races of the spring meeting on the Washington Course, which were fixed for to-day, have been postponed.

COLORED BOUNTIES.

WASHINGTON, February 25—During the morning hour in the Senate the bill for a Commission to investigate the traffic in alcohol was under consideration, Schurz opposing and Frelinghuysen supporting it. The morning hour having expired during the discussion the bill went over.

Unless Congress does something very soon in the way of appropriating money for the payment of bounties to colored soldiers under the regulations in force under the freedmen's bureau the Secretary of War will, in a very short time, have to discontinue all such payments.

OFFICER HAYNES SUSPENDED.—Mayor Spencer yesterday suspended officer R O. Haynes for not preferring charges against Gaines Chisolm, arrested on the night of the homicide. This officer has always been faithful and prompt in the discharge of his duties, and will no doubt be able to explain his conduct at the next Council, when we hope the whole of this unfortunate matter will be investigated.

A GOLD WATCH RECOVERED.

A Case Well Worked Up.

Merit to Whom Merit is Due.

Editors Constitution: Too much praise cannot be awarded Mr. Robert Bolton for tracing up the thieves and finding a fine gold watch and chain stolen from Mrs. Prince, housekeeper of the Kimball House, in December last, by a dining room waiter that attended to the linens of the dining room. Mrs. Prince occupying a room near the linen room, the linen boy took advantage of her absence and stole her watch and chain.

The particulars were made known to Mr. Bolton, one of our city police, a short time ago, and he worked quietly until he has secured the watch-chain and the rogues in jail.

He first went to Gwinnett county and arrested the accomplice of Andrew Davis, the first offender, who gave him information as to where Davis was, and then Mr. Bolton went to Rome, arrested Davis and brought him to the city Sunday night last. The whole affair reflects credit on policeman Bolton as a superior detective and as one of the best policemen on the force. If we had more of such energetic brave men as Mr. Bolton on the force there would be less murder and stealing in the city.

Mrs. Prince had a fifty cent chance in a doll, some weeks ago, that was raffled at the Kimball House for the Orphans' Home, and won it, which was to be raffled for Mrs Prince by the guests of the house, together with the employees of the House and proprietor took chances on account of her losing her watch and chain; and the night before the watch and chain were returned she raised within a few dollars of the amount of the reward she offered for the recovery of her watch and chain, which was $50.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY AT OXFORD.

The Celebration of the Few and Phi Gamma Societies.

OXFORD, GA., February 23, 1874.

Editors Constitution: To-day has been one of singular pleasure to the citizens of Oxford and to the students of Emory College. It is customary on the 22d of February of each year for the Few and Phi Gamma societies to jointly celebrate the birthday of Washington. As that day was Sunday, they postponed the celebration until to-day. Although the weather was not very favorable, yet at the appointed hour there was a large and appreciative audience assembled at the Few Hall. Mr. W. H. Wimberly, the present President of the Few Society, took the chair and called the house to order. After prayer by Prof. Stone, President Wimberly introduced to the audience Mr. W. W. Lewis of the Phi Gamma Society. His subject was the Philosophy of Life. After defining and explaining the true philosophy of life the glowing orator turned and with exceeding force and appropriateness, showed how strikingly it was exemplified in the life of him whose birth we had met to celebrate. In his turn, Mr. G. W. W. Stone, the President of the Phi Gamma Society introduced to the audience, Mr. Hampton Stevens, of the Few Society. Mr. Stevens took for his subject, Washington and Liberty. He handled his subject well, and delighted the audience with his fluent style and easy delivery. Both orators did well, and reflected honor upon their societies and credit upon themselves. In my enthusiasm over the speeches, I had almost forgot en the ladies, who graced the occasion with their presence. My apology for so doing is, that we always keep the sweet things until the last. Suffice it to say, that there was a very fine array of beauty present. May every succeeding Washington celebration, be as pleasant as this one was.

The Justices' Courts.

Justice Butt tried a criminal cause of considerable interest yesterday. It was a charge of robbery preferred against H. L. McCue alias Mickey McCue by Mr. Robert P. Spencer. Spencer is the man who was swindled out of $1,600 on the 19th instant, of which little transaction a full account has already been published. Lieutenant Tim Murphy has been working up the case and several days ago arrested McCue, as being one of the four parties concerned.

The prisoner has since been confined in the Station House. He made an effort to get out on Tuesday by means of a writ of Habeas Corpus, but Spencer produced a warrant, and the writ fell through. The whole affair was fully investigated yesterday by Justice Butt. The facts Spencer swore to were substantially the same as those already published. The prisoner was identified as being one of the parties to the little game that was played in Bedell's room. Although no money was recovered, there seems to be little doubt but that he got a share. In the management of the case Col. S. B Spencer appeared for the State, and Mr. Culberson for the defense. The Court committed the defendant to jail to stand his trial before the next Superior Court for robbery.

Station House Report.

STATE ARRESTS.

There were two arrests for simple larceny made by the Police yesterday.

One, whose name we suppress, was arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Munday, for stealing a shawl, alleged to be worth ten dollars from E. T. Drennan.

A man named William Moore was taken into custody for stealing one dollar and eighty-five cents in money from Joseph McLaughlin,

There were six arrests for trivial city offences.

THE LECTURE AT THE NORTHERN METHODIST CHURCH.—The second lecture of the course which has been instituted by the above church came off last night before a large and appreciative audience. The lecturer was the Rev. Ira G. Bidwell. D.D., of Worcester, a gentleman well known to fame. The subject was "The Secret of Personal Beauty." The Doctor handled it admirably. The opening portion, which was mostly descriptive, was filled with passages of exquisite beauty. Any quantity of good advice was also given. The lecturer said that nobody ought to be ugly: and argued that as true beauty exists in the soul, and makes its impression upon the face so all could be just as beautiful as they pleased.

He showed with considerable skill the effects produced upon the countenance by base and ignoble passions, and the absence of intellectual power. He said that nobody could afford to be a fool now-a-days with 60 centuries of thought and improvement behind them, and closed with an enumeration of some of the virtues, the possession of which will transform even the homeliest features. The lecture was frequently applauded and was fine throughout.

TREMENDOUS ENTERPRISE.—We made brief allusion yesterday to a piece of astounding enterprise—the publication of nearly a page account of Mardi Gras after the balance of folks had been to New Orleans, got back, stopped writing and almost forgotten the subject. But we protest against being misunderstood We desire to record here to their great praise that the printer boys nobly set up the New Orleans Picayune's account, four solid columns of it, verbatim et literatim, et punctuatim, with even the sub-heads accurately reproduced. This is a typographical feat for which we hasten to express our unfeigned admiration.

STEINHEIMER BRO'S. New York Store on Whitehall Street, presents its usual attractive features in the way of articles of every character and style to be found in first-class dry goods establishments. Any and everything in their line can be found at this house, to suit the taste of the most fastidious, or at prices to please the most economical. The attendants are ever polite and courteous.

Steinheimer & Bros are endorsed by us to the public with pleasure as being a firm worthy of a liberal patronage.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

A DAY SPENT IN ARGUMENT.

The Prisoner Committed to Jail.

Yesterday the Chisolm trial was continued. There is little beyond the decision of the Court that we have to report. As soon as the Court assembled the argument was opened in behalf of the State by Colonel William H Hulsey, who was followed by Judge W F Wright for the defense. Colonel D P Hill followed for the State, and Colonel L J Glenn for the defense.

General L. J. Gartrell concluded for the defense, and the Solicitor General for the State. We have not room for any extended notice of these speeches, although they deserve it. Each one of the learned gentlemen did his best, and the manner in which new light was thrown upon some of the important points of evidence must have considerably astonished the witnesses who testified. As during the preceding two days, the room was literally jammed with spectators, who were apparently almost as much interested in the argument as the prisoner at the bar.

Several of the speeches created decided sensation, and were pronounced the best efforts the speakers had ever made. The defense had a very hard task before them, and although they fought hard and eloquently for the discharge of the client, it was soon very apparent that they were fighting in vain. The day was emphatically spent in the argument, as it was about 6 o'clock P. M when the Solicitor General closed for the State.

Then followed a solemn silence, an instant's consultation between the magistrates, (Justices E. R Sasseen and E. W. Munday), and the Court, without any comment upon speeches or evidence, simply announced its intention to fully commit the prisoner. This commitment, as it appears upon the back of the warrant, is as follows:

THE COMMITMENT.

State of Georgia, Fulton county—After investigating the case charged in this warrant against A. G. Chisolm it is ordered by the court that A. G. Chisolm be committed to jail for the offense of murder.

This, February 25, 1874.

E R. SASSEEN, N. P. and Ex-Off. J. P."

After announcing its decision the court adjourned, and the prisoner was returned to jail.

We have heard rumors of an intention on the part of the defense to sue out a writ of habeas corpus, and try to have a bond fixed, but they are not confirmed. We shall keep our readers fully posted as to their next steps.

LEGISLATIVE REUNIONS.

The Finance Committee Entertained by Colonel Nutting, and the Judiciary Committee by Hon. Mr. Pierce.

Last night two most delightful Legislative reunions were in progress Colonel Nutting entertained the Finance Committee of the House at Pease's Restaurant, and Hon George Pierce entertained the Judiciary Committee of the House at Room No. 101 of the Kimball House. The members of these committees were assembled at, the two rooms, and the reunions were kept up until a late hour. Each committee, with a few friends assembled about ten o'clock, and a most delightful evening ensued.

It is too late for us to reproduce the proceedings of these festivities, but wine flowed freely and a succession of eloquent speeches were made. The Legislature closes its session to-day, and these reunions were held in anticipation of that event. The late hour precludes any further notice of these most delightful occasions.

THE BROOM MANUFACTORY.—The broom factory of Mr. C R Brookins, Luckie street, is one of the industries of the city, and one well worthy every way of a liberal patronage.

The brooms from this establishment are of excellent make and are offered at reasonable prices.

TICKETS to the Lecture by J. G. Saxe, Tuesday evening, March 3, 1874, can be had after to day, at ten o'clock, at the Young Men's Library or at Phillips & Crew's bookstore.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the 'courses,' Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent Doctors use it. Prepared by J. H. Bradfield, druggist, Atlanta, Ga; $1 50 per bottle, and sold by respectable druggists everywhere.

"St. Nicholas" and "Our Young Folks."

THE publishers of ST. NICHOLAS, SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE for Girls and Boys, take pleasure in announcing that by an arrangement with Messrs. J. R. Osgood & Co., their popular Magazine

"Our Young Folks"

HAS BEEN MERGED IN "ST. NICHOLAS

In addition to the striking novelties and great literary and artistic attractions already offered by "ST. NICHOLAS," THE BEST FEATURES OF "OUR YOUNG FOLKS" will be retained. "ST NICHOLAS" HAS BEEN ENLARGED, new contributions have been secured: among them

A SERIAL STORY BY J. T. TROWBRIDGE

Late Editor of "Our Young Folk," which begins in the present number. Other Eminent writers well known to the readers of "Our Young Folks," have been engaged. We are thus enabled to present to the public a Magazine for Children and Youth, superior in every respect to any ever before published.

Three Splendid Serial Stories:

"WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED,"

A Story for Boys,
By FRANK R. STOCKTON,

Author of "Ting-a-Ling," "Roundabout Ramble," etc. Mr. Stockton is one of the best of our American Writers. The scene of the story is laid in Virginia. The boy-hero has started out with a gun on his shoulder, and we may be sure there will be no end of fun and adventures.

"NIMPO'S TROUBLES,"

A Story for Girls,
By OLIVE THORNE (Mrs. Harriet M. Miller,)

A great favorite with the children. It is a good, strong, wholesome story of girl life, and will be full interest for both boys and girls.

"FAST FRIENDS,"

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE,

One of the most popular writers for young folks in America. Readers of "Jack Hazard," "A Chance for Himself," and "Doing his Best," will understand what a capital treat is in store for them in Mr. Trowbridge's new story. All these Stories will be Splendidly Illustrated.

"JIMMYJOHN STORIES,"

By Mrs. ABY MORTON DIAZ,

Author of "The William Henry Letters," "William Henry and his Friends," and "Lucy Maria" (who has the rare and happy gift of knowing how to delight young people,) will appear during the year. There will also be Shorter Stories, Papers on Science and History, Natural History, Wild Sports and Adventures, Sketches of Travel, Fairy Tales, Poems, Puzzles, Charades, Jingles, Fun and Fancy, Instruction, Entertainment and Delight. Something for all, from Father and Mother to the Baby. The Illustrations will be the best that the Artists of two continents can supply, and will be printed with the greatest care.

FOR VERY LITTLE FOLKS.

Our pages in big type and easy words for the youngest readers, which have been "a hit" from the first, will be continued. The children will be glad to know also, that the department of

is to be a permanent feature of the magazine. Jack will tell some of the most curious things ever heard, and make himself generally entertaining.

We have undertaken to make the best magazine possible, for the little folks, as well as those who are older. Every number of St. Nicholas will contain good reading matter for boys and girls of all ages besides a great deal of hearty and innocent fun.

Christmas comes but once a year, but St. Nicholas, the new magazine for girls and boys, comes every month. It has already won the hearts of the young folks, and the little Children are Crying for St. Nicholas.

WE WANT 100,000

CHILDREN AND YOUTH MADE HAPPY

BY ST. NICHOLAS AT THE HOLIDAYS.

St. Nicholas, as enlarged, contains one-third more matter than Our Young Folks, thus giving a great variety for all. With its great Literary and Pictorial Attractions, and its beautiful Printing, it will be found to be the Cheapest Magazine in the World.

Subscription Price, $3 a year. The back numbers for November and December, 1873, will be sent to all subscribers for 1874, without additional charge. Four Months for ONE DOLLAR; twenty-five cents a Number. For sale and subscriptions received by all Booksellers and News Dealers on the above terms.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Billious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.

MODE OF DRAWING.

There will be upon the stage two glass wheels the contents of which can be seen by all the audience. A committee of two citizens, in no way connected with the management, and of undoubted integrity, having first counted and examined, will place in the larger wheel 12,600 tickets exactly alike and having printed numbers from one to 12,600 corresponding to all the tickets sold. A similar committee, having first counted and examined, will place in tubes precisely alike the prizes, to be placed in the smaller wheel. Both wheels will then be turned until their contents are thoroughly mixed. A boy under fifteen years of age, blindfolded, will then draw from the larger wheel one of the tickets, and holding it up in full view of the spectators and auditors its number will be called by the crier appointed for this purpose, so that all present may hear. The number will then be passed to a committee of citizens, who will say whether the number has been rightly called. It will then be passed to a registrar, who will file it, and record it upon a book prepared for that purpose. A boy of same age will then draw from the smaller wheel one of the tubes containing a prize, which will be opened in full the view of the spectators and auditors. The value of the real estate prize will then be cried, and passed to the committee, who after inspection, will give it to another registrar to file and record. The prize so drawn will belong to the ticket bearing the number drawn immediately before it. Thus the process will continue, drawing first from the large wheel containing the tickets, and then from the small one, until all the tubes containing the prizes are drawn. An accurate record of the above will be kept and certified to by the committee of disinterested citizens officiating.

The Prizes below $300 in value are approximations, and will be determined and paid as follows: The numbers of all the Tickets sold being considered in a circle, numerically formed, and the highest number, 12,600, and the lowest, 1, brought together, then whatever number in this circle may be determined to be entitled to the Capital Prize of $25,000 will be taken as a center, on each side of which the next 300 numbers in numerical order will be counted for the $10 Prizes, thus making on the whole of the Capital the 600 nearest numbers, each of which will be entitled to a Real Estate Prize of [illegible] Tickets drawing larger Prizes will be excluded, and the circle extended to include 600 on both sides of the Capital, being 300 on each side, it being the purpose of the management not to duplicate Prizes.

MONEY—All money received from sale of Tickets will be deposited in Bank immediately on [illegible] remittances.

TRANSFER OF TITLES.—Within ten days after the drawing, parties putting Real Estate in under this Scheme, are required to make good, valid and unencumbered titles thereto to the Georgia Real Estate and Immigration Company—said Company obligating themselves to transfer such title to the party or parties who may draw such Prize of Real Estate.

Tickets can be had on application, personally or by letter, to authorized agents, the managers, or
